#	Name	Qty	lb
1	Oathbow	1	1 lb.
2	Prayer Beads	1	0 lb.

Oathbow — Very Rare · Magic Weapon · 1 lb. · Attuned

When you nock an arrow on this bow, it whispers in Elvish, "Swift defeat to my enemies." When you use this weapon to make a ranged attack, you can, as a command phrase, say, "Swift death to you who has wronged me." The target of your attack becomes your sworn enemy until it dies or until dawn seven days later. You can have only one such sworn enemy at a time. When your sworn enemy dies, you can choose a new one after the next dawn. While your sworn enemy lives, you have advantage on attack rolls with this weapon against your sworn enemy. If the attack hits, your sworn enemy takes an extra 3d6 piercing damage. While your sworn enemy lives, you have disadvantage on attack rolls with all other weapons.

ITEM DESCRIPTIONS

Prayer Beads — Wondrous · Wondrous Item · 0 lb. · Attuned

Wondrous item (requires attunement). These beads consist of 25 prayer beads strung on a thin silver chain. As a bonus action, you can use the beads to cast a spell you know from a list of 25 spells (GM's choice), targeting yourself. You can use each bead once per long rest. Each bead is unique: Praying Mantis Style grants +4 to your attack rolls and movement; Iron Feet gives you +4 to AC and advantage on Strength and Constitution saving throws; Steelfist grants +3 to hit and a d10 to unarmed strikes vs armored enemies. Each bead can also be cast once per long rest to gain advantage on Strength checks, advantage on Constitution saving throws, or a bonus to movement, attack rolls, AC, or unarmed strike damage. Most of these effects last 1 minute and allow you to combine them with multiattack and bonus action economy. The beads lose their magic if you lose attunement to them, so you should re-attune at the next long rest. Some beads grant additional reactive benefits when you take damage from specific sources. The full list and effects are described below. You cannot use more than one bead of the same kind in a single turn; combining requires you to spend an additional bonus action to activate the second bead. If a bead requires an attack roll, you use your unarmed strike attack bonus. Some beads require a saving throw from the target; the DC equals 8 plus your proficiency bonus plus your Wisdom modifier.

PERSONAL CHARACTERISTICS

PERSONALITY TRAITS:

- Calculated and patient; willing to wait for the perfect moment to strike rather than rushing in.
- Speaks in soft, rapid bursts, often shifting eyes to track multiple movements at once.

IDEALS:

- Adaptability: Survival dictates that one must change their approach based on the environment.
- Autonomy: A creature should be the master of its own web; external control is an affront to nature.

BONDS:

- Bound to a hidden cache of stolen documents, believing them to be the key to their past.
- Owes a life-debt to an outcast druid who healed them from a near-fatal injury.

FLAWS:

- Territorial Anxiety: Becomes agitated and irrational when forced to stay in unfamiliar or "unsecured" locations.
- Sensory Overload: In bright, loud, or crowded areas, they become panicked and disoriented.

ALLIES & ORGANIZATIONS

- The Weaver's Guild (Secretive): A network of spies and rogues who utilize webs of misinformation.

ADDITIONAL FEATURES

- Quirk: Habitually taps fingers against surfaces to feel vibrations in the air.
- Quirk: Often climbs walls or sits on high rafters rather than sitting in chairs.

BACKSTORY

Born into a subterranean community where silence was the only law, they learned early that the loudest voices were the first to die. They survived by becoming part of the shadows, mimicking the movements of the great wolf spiders that inhabited the cavern walls. A turning point came when they uncovered a conspiracy involving the abandonment of their clan by surface-dwelling merchants. Exiled for what they discovered, they now travel the world, weaving their own complex web of influence.
